Volume 11, No. 1, April 2024

The Societas Dei is a scientific journal with a Reformed perspective that discusses the interaction between religion and society, particularly in Indonesia's multi-religious society. The journal aims to develop knowledge that can be a scientific information source for the research and government stakeholders to contribute to religious and social life in Indonesia. The journal is expected to establish and organise an ecosystem of life reflecting God's government wherein justice, truth, prosperity, and beauty are necessary.
